

Jaime

When it rains it STORMS. So grab your umbrellas fellas because it looks like there's a storm brewing tonight. Jaime, aka STORM, is bringing her class and sass to town all the way from the Big Apple. There, she works in the fashion industry for a denim company, VIGOSS. However, as we all have been told time after time, a way to a man's heart is through his stomach. She has taken this saying to heart, or should we say to the kitchen, where she likes to bake up a STORM. She will mix up a batch of the best cookies in town, whatever town she is in and hopes to one day follow her passion of baking and open her own bakery. When this Cheese addict isn't walking down the catwalk, or heating things up in the kitchen, she is always up for a night out with friends, dancing up a STORM, but a good bottle of wine and a dive bar may be the best way to this little lady's heart. So, take cover and brave the STORM if you dare...
