

Jenan

Although not a DC resident, Jenan did move out to Washington, DC for a short period of time for an internship working with DC charter schools. She grew up in Denver, received her BA in psychology from the University of Colorado, and currently lives in the “colorful state”. She is now interning in the psychiatry department at the children's hospital in Colorado and loves every second of it. Of course being from Colorado, Jenan loves her outdoor activities, whether it be camping, hiking, playing sports, or dancing. In her free time she loves hanging out with friends, trying new restaurants, watching “How I Met Your Mother”, eating Thai Chili, and dancing the night away.
