

Matt

Matt was born and raised on a farm in rural Virginia, where he got out of there as quickly as he could and never looked back. He's so far put his college career to decent use by working at Wolf Trap Foundation for the Performing Arts in the Communications and Marketing department. He loves going out and having a good time when the occasion calls for it, but is equally captivated by sitting at home and enjoying time with friends and family. His big life decision last year was to visit a foreign country every year, and he has so far visited Thailand and will venture to Iceland this fall. This summer you'll find Matt running his first marathon, on the lawn at plenty of Wolf Trap concerts, going to as many Nats game as possible, and exploring more and more of the city before officially moving somewhere along the metro rail this fall.
