

Terk

C is for cookie and that's good enough for him. Seriously. Erkan, or Terk as he is known to his friends, is a man of simple, yet eclectic tastes. A 26 yr old film school grad currently working at Discovery Channel, he finds pleasure in making delicious sammiches and food, eating said sammiches, drinking dark malty beers, and getting into senseless debates about 70's rock bands. When he is not getting bent out of shape by claims that Journey is better than Queen, Terk likes to be creative with photography, independent filmmaking, and writing. He also fancies himself an undiscovered karaoke superstar...but only if he's rapping or singing Johnny Cash, because he has crap vocal range. Oh, and he does love cookies.
